

FOR PRESIDENT IN 1888,

JAMES G. BLAINE,
OF MAINE.

Subject to the decision of the Republican National Convention.

"We always have the American flag above us and not below us."—James G. Blaine.

THE SHERMAN BOOM.

An Important Conference in Columbus, Ohio.

COLUMBUS, (O.), July 14.—The leaders of the Sherman boom held an important conference at the Neil House in this city on Tuesday night. Those present were: Congressman Charles Grosvenor and A. C. Thompson, ex-Congressman John Little, ex-Speaker John Entkint, Secretary of State John Robinson and Fred Massey. The conference decided to make active fight for delegates to the State convention in every one of the forty counties that have not yet chosen any, and to introduce a resolution in the convention endorsing Sherman. Should the resolution fail to pass Sherman will withdraw from the race for the presidency, and he has said so himself. The relations between Foraker and Sherman are undoubtedly strained, and it has become generally known Foraker favors Blaine.

RAISE GOOD STOCK.

The San Francisco Chronicle remarks: Beyond the slightly additional fact that it does not cost a dollar more to raise a good horse or cow than it does to feed a poor one. And yet all over the State one can see calves and colts of breeds unknown to the herd book being reared at considerable expense, only to be sold at last at a price which does not cover the price of keeping. Take two farmers living side by side. One will begrudge the $25 or $50 necessary for the service of a good, blooded stallion, and will accordingly raise colts which, perhaps, require an original outlay of no more than $10 or $15. When the colt is three years old it is disposed of for $50 or $60, or even less, and the unenterprising farmer grows about the lack of profit in stock raising, and says that a colt cannot be sold for enough to pay for his feed. His neighbor, however, has better sense. He pays a fair price for the getting of a colt of good breed, and when it reaches maturity he has no trouble whatever in selling it anywhere from $100 to $200. He pockets his profits, and naturally concludes that there are few branches of farming which pay better than the raising of well-bred horses. The good colt also no more and required no more care than the poor one, yet paid a good return against the absolute loss on the other.

As with horses, so with cattle. All over the State hundreds of calves come into existence every year, concerning which it is said that it will not pay to rear them. And yet had proper care been used in the selection of sires, eighteen months' time would have produced a heifer or bull that would have brought a handsome price. Owners of the ordinary kinds of stock raised in California think they are doing well if they receive $25 or $30 for milch cows, and yet they might just as well get $100 to $150 at very little additional outlay. A recent auction sale of cattle in Oakland furnished an abundance of facts in support of this statement. The owners of the Ontario stock ranch in Santa Barbara County sold a large number of young cattle raised by them, and such prices were realized as $250 for a two-year-old bull, $300 for a yearling, $310 for a nine-year-old cow, and from $85 to $250 for calves from 2 to 10 months old. And without doubt in the same locality where this stock came from can be found any number of calves every year whose owners sell them for little or nothing on the ground that it will not pay to raise them.

Nobody yet ever lost money in the production of stock of any kind of desirable breeds, and no better source of profit can be found than in the raising every year of a few calves and colts from sires of known good standing.

R. E. Cowan, Supreme Keeper of Records and Seals of the Knights of Pythias, died at St. Louis, Thursday. He was born at Staunton, Va., in 1830. He represented Virginia in the Secession Convention, and sat in the Congress. He was elected Judge of the Equity Court, in Kansas City, after the war. He was a Royal Arch Mason and Old Fellow of high standing. He leaves a wife and three children.

Ex-Speaker Randall, of Pennsylvania, is of the opinion that the differences in the Democratic party can be harmonized by a fair and just revision of the tariff. He also believes in abolishing the Internal Revenue system.

THE SOLAR ECLIPSE.

Plans of the American Expedition to Japan.

New York, July 13.—A Herald's Washington special gives an account of the only expedition to be made from the United States to Japan to witness the coming solar eclipse. Professor Davis S. Todd is in charge of the expedition, which will be under the joint auspices of the Navy Department, which loans the instruments, and the trustees of the Bache fund of the National Academy of Sciences, who appropriated $2,000 for the expenses of the expedition.

The primary objects of the expedition are to secure photographs of the partially eclipsed sun, especially near the moments of the critical phase, and of the solar corona while the sun is entirely covered. Professor Todd is instructed to seek to obtain such photographs with the horizontal photoheliograph. In addition, Professor Todd is to secure the drawing of the corona by native Japanese artists and other observations of the sun's phases, especially the beginning and end of totality at various points. On arrival at Yokohama the Professor is to communicate with Minister Hubbard, and through him it is expected that the Japanese authorities will render his party such assistance as may be necessary.

The only other American party which will observe the eclipse is under the direction of Charles A. Young, astronomer of Princeton, N. J., who sails from New York, accompanied by Professors Brackett and McNeil, also of Princeton, and a number of ladies. This party will co-operate with Dr. Otto von Struve, Director of the Imperial Observatory at Pulkowa, and will seek a location probably in the vicinity of Moscow. Besides these, the observatory at Pulkowa and Russian astronomers will occupy a number of stations along the path of the total phase, and the Imperial Government has placed its telegraph lines at the disposal of the observers, and has instructed Dr. Struve to take all possible steps to insure the success of the efforts.

SILVER NOTES.

The Austin Reveille, of the 12th, has this:

Among the numerous innovations in the line of progress, made by the new management of the Manhattan Co., that of paying their employees in silver notes, in our opinion, is not the least in importance.

General Manager Hachett, so far as we know, is the first to grasp the situation and inaugurate the practice, with the intention of continuing it.

Without here offering explanations on the subject, we do not hesitate to assert that the time is coming when the currency of West as well as the East, will be notes, based on gold or silver coin deposited in the U. S. Treasury, and we of the silver producing States should show our faith in our product, and practice what we preach, by adopting the silver note.

The U. S. banks have been working for years to abolish greenbacks, on the specious plea that their adoption was a "war measure," and the war having ceased, there is no longer any reason for their existence. Granted. By a parity of reasoning, the creation of the banks being most emphatically a "war measure," for the purpose of circulating the National currency—the war having ceased there is no longer any reason for their existence, and they should be abolished, and they will be abolished, as issuers of notes, when we have lived through this administration of bankers and brokers that at present run the Government to suit their interests.

These same bankers and brokers send up a daily wall, in almost every newspaper in the East, that gold and silver will accrue to the Government instead of the banks. Let the Government coin and store all of the gold and silver that comes to it, and issue notes based on the coin in the Treasury in respect of the metal of which it is made. Then we will have no use for National bank notes, nor even greenbacks, and will have a U. S. note that will pass at par, from Greenland to Cape Horn; from John O'Grow's to the Golden Horn, and even to "far Cathay."

All of this we can promote in no small degree, by adopting notes, and it would be eminently appropriate that we show our preference for notes based on silver, so long as the distinction between gold and silver notes exists.

We said that the Manhattan Co., was paying in silver notes. This is not strictly true, as, thus far, they have been unable to procure them in sufficient quantity. But they propose to do it if they have to send a "shot gun" messenger to the Treasury at Washington to procure them. They have been unable to get them except in small quantities in San Francisco, either from the banks or the U. S. Deputy Treasurer. The latter informed a special messenger sent to him by Mr. Hanchett that he did not have them, and had no instructions from Washington in regard to them. Mr. Hanchett then sent to Chicago, thinking that so small a sum as $24,000 needed for the June pay roll would be a mere bagatelle in that metropolis of the west, but about $4,000 out of $24,000 was all that could be had in silver notes. It is unnecessary to say that the U. S. bank notes were offered to any amount. This is not consistent with the repeated assertions of the Administration that silver will not circulate in any form, or the wall of the banks, that as fast as they are put in circulation they return to them. It is the same old story. The banks are still, by every artifice in their power, trying to render silver in any form, unpopular, to increase the demand for bank notes, and we, uninvitingly, perhaps, in most cases are assisting them by our adherence to gold coin as our only currency. Of course we use silver for change, but in that way we can use but a small quantity of it. The adoption of silver notes to pay all their liabilities, by the mining organizations of the silver producing States, would add, probably, $2,000,000 per month to their circulation, and make them popular, not only in the silver States, but in all places from which these States draw their surplus.

There is a prejudice in the West, we admit, against paper money, as there is in the East against coin, but this would soon disappear. The people of the East dislike gold and silver coin, because they think it is inconvenient, and are afraid of counterfeits. The people of the West object to paper money, for exactly the same reasons. It is all a matter of education and habit.

We appeal to the common sense of the mining companies, and all other business men of the silver States, to think, whether it would not be the very acme of wisdom to follow the lead of the Manhattan Co., and pay in the money which is the only recognized currency of seven eighths of the people of the world, and necessary to the other eighth—the first money known to mankind and never repudiated—the money of the people, and the main source of our prosperity, which though temporarily depressed by the machinations of the shysters of the world, will, inevitably reassert itself.

INGALLS' DIPLOMA.

He Nearly Missed It by an Oration on "College Mummies."

St. Paul Globe.

"Vice President Ingalls had a narrow escape about getting a diploma from his alma mater," remarked a St. Paul gentleman who was a former classmate at Williams College, where he was one year ahead of the late President Garfield, "and the circumstances which led to it may prove of interest. Near Williams College, in the town of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, there was a young lady's seminary known as Maplewood Institute, and one of the practices of the good preceptress at the head, was to give her charges an airing among the Berkshire hills in a large omnibus. By a combination of circumstances one day a 'bus load of attractive femininity pulled into the staid old college grounds and fate led them past West College, in one of the rooms of which was located Sophomore John J. Ingalls. He had provided himself with a large tin horn, and as the fair school girls passed his quarters, he gave them an outburst of melody with his horn that stirred the whole college. Nothing was said at the time, but a few days later, when the class of which Mr. Ingalls was a member assembled for the customary rhetorical exercises, President Mark Hopkins entered and took a chair on the rostrum. Tapping the thumb of his left hand with his eyeglasses—a favorite habit, by the way, when he wanted to scold a delinquent—he called attention to Student Ingalls' breach of decorum, and accused him of not being averse to blowing his own horn upon every occasion.

"Under this castigation from the venerable President Ingalls remained silent but he was terribly enraged, and everybody in school knew that he would only bide his time to get even. And it came on graduation day. According to usage, he had prepared an essay, which he entitled 'Mummy Life at College,' and this was submitted to one of the professors for revision. Naturally it had to be toned, and when the manuscript was returned to Mr. Ingalls the most telling points, according to his idea, were eliminated. Finally, he was called upon to deliver his essay before the assembled multitude on commencement day, and to the horror of the President and faculty, he announced as his subject 'College Mummies.' In a keen, sarcastic manner, for which he has since become foremost in the United States, he paid his respects to his tutors, and persisted in finishing his remarks, though repeatedly told to stop.

"Then he sat down and awaited developments. After a short pause a diploma was handed him, but to his amazement and chagrin it was a mere blank so far as any testimonial of merit was concerned. But Ingalls again outwitted the faculty, for previous to delivering his speech he had visited the college treasurer, paid his bill, and obtained a receipt which included a certificate of graduation as a Bachelor of Arts. To this he called the attention of the faculty, adding that if they persisted in refusing him what was his by rights he would at once institute a suit against the college. A few days later he was made happy by receiving a properly signed and authenticated document showing him to be a graduate of Williams in good standing. This took place in 1855, and twenty-five years later he had a greater revenge when his alma mater not only chose him to deliver the annual oration but at his close conferred upon him without solicitation the degree of Doctor of Laws.

NEVADA STATE FAIR.—Arrangements are being made by the officers and members of the State Board of Agriculture to have the coming Fair surpass any ever held in Nevada. The premiums for the live stock department and exhibits in the Pavilion are numerous and liberal. Among the many enjoyable features will be a ladies' grand tournament, horse racing, stock parades, Indian pony races, bicycle races and balloon ascensions. The number of exhibits promises to be unusually large and of a superior character.

President Cleveland writes few letters and dictates none. His public papers he writes with his own hand. He uses a stub pen and a cork penholder, and in reading or writing wears spectacles, with a black steel frame.

THE RAILROAD SURVEY.

The recent survey of the Central Pacific Railroad, made in accordance with the provisions of an act of the Legislature, shows that the Company has been paying taxes in Nevada on some three miles more road than it had in the State. It is somewhat remarkable that this error was not discovered by the railroad men, who are supposed to know the exact length of the road.—Silver State.

The foregoing exhibit is significant. The Central Pacific Railroad Company received a subsidy from the General Government of $16,000 per mile of railroad constructed. This 3 miles of road represents $48,000 originally paid by the Government for work not done and road not built. It also represents a prorata of freights and fares which has entered into the estimates and transactions of the past 10 years and which will aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars. The paltry tax paid the State of Nevada during that period is not to be mentioned on the same day in comparison. Will Stanford and the Central Pacific Railroad company make this thing square with the Government and the people? What says ex-Editor Stewart on that question? Have his "constituents" any rights in this matter which he thinks worth looking after?—Cerson Index-Union.

HUNTER CREEK WATER.

A Document that is Self-Explanatory.

RENO, Nev., July 14, 1887.

Reno and Hunter Creek Water Co.

GENTLEMEN:—A few days ago, at the request of and in company with Mr. James Mayberry, of your corporation, I visited Hunter Creek and obtained a sample of water from that stream, which I have carefully analyzed with results as stated below:

I find the water to be soft, clear, and without color, odor or taste; of slight alkaline reaction and containing no trace of contamination from animal sources. It contains a trace of organic matter of vegetable origin, and 4.403 grains of mineral matter per gallon consisting principally of silica and salts of lime and iron. These results show that the water of Hunter Creek is of remarkable purity and eminently fitted for drinking and all domestic uses, in fact, a water more pure and healthful would be hard to find anywhere. Reno is to be congratulated on having an available supply of such excellent water.

Very respectfully yours,

C. M. FASSETT, Analyst.

TAHOE CITY AND SURROUNDINGS.—The Sierra Nevada Tourist has this:

The title of city leads one to entertain a false idea as to the size of this place, and when seen for the first time in its entirety, the revelation of feeling is somewhat ludicrous. But this is of short duration, as the view of Lake Tahoe from this standpoint absorbs the sole attention to the exclusion of everything else. Being situated on a bluff of volcanic origin, and elevated some fifty feet above the lake, it offers a comprehensive and commanding outlook, that embraces the greater portion of this unrivalled sheet of water in its scope.

Looking south, along the right hand or western shore, the eye glances from point to point, from peak to peak until the culmination is reached in the most picturesque mountain of them all, Mt. Tallac, whose summit is upreared nearly 10,000 feet above sea level and 8,500 feet above Tahoe. In its sheltered nooks, the snow lies all the year round, and on its rugged slopes the alpine flora is found in all its varied beauty.

Turning, across the lake, the rounding forms of the Eastern range are seen, and following their forest-covered slopes to the south, the eye rests on the bare desert-like summit of Freer's peak, an elevation of 11,000 feet. Lesser peaks, with a sweep that is grandly magnificent fill in the space between Freer's peak and Mt. Tallac, and complete the circle of mountain sentinels that have been the guardians of Lake Tahoe for untold ages. From this point of view (Tahoe City) the lake is an ever changing kaleidoscope, but on such an immense scale as to inspire awe, as well as admiration. During the calm, when the whole surface is of a silvery sheen, only broken by the long pulsating reflections of the distant snow-covered peaks, or in the storm with the rolling white-crested waves, driven before the wind like cloud flecks in the heavens; in the clear bright mountain sunshine, or under the softer light of a clouded sky; during the moonlit evening with its charms of mystery, or amid the gloom of the starry night, so varied are its aspects, so many its different hues that the senses never tire of watching each new unfolding phase, while the enchantment only deepens on longer acquaintance.

Neither is the immediate vicinity lacking in places of interest, and to a lover of nature much can be found that is both instructive and entertaining. A walk through the wood, along the northern trend of the shore, reveals still other views of lake and mountain, and many tempting cosy retreats. One pile of huge boulders has been dubbed "Artist's Camp" by Mr. Bush, the well-known landscape painter, and his autograph is still visible on one of the number. In the sheltered corners of these great masses of rock the ferns grow in profusion, just the place where one can lay undisturbed, and in company of their favorite author pass the hours away in restful languor. Still further along a quaint, many-topped tree that has been sketched times unnumbered is seen. Beyond are meadows and shady woods, while the shore line makes a gentle curve until it almost touches a willow-covered island, then swamps back again to the end of the point, around which lies Carnelian Bay, a famous place for finding the pretty pebbles of that name.

To those so inclined, the several logging camps along the shore afford an opportunity of inspecting the lumber industry from the time the tree is felled to the earth, through operations of cutting into logs, snaking, loading on to the truck, and hauling, until rolled into the lake, awaiting further transportation to the Glenbrook mills.

The drive from Tahoe City to McKinney's, following the indentations of the lake, is a favorite with everyone. The road is hardly ever out of sight of the water, winding among trees, and through some clearing, crossing snowed streams, passing Sunnyside and Idlewild with their splendid forest growth, and with the rugged steep of Eagle Cliff towering above it all, and on and on, every turn presenting some new prospect, to be recalled by the memory in after days, with all the joy born of such occasions.

The banks of the Truckee river offer every inducement for exploration either for those in quest of the wary trout or such as may desire to commit to paper or canvas those lovely bits of landscape in which Dame Nature can be more closely studied. That the Truckee river should be the only outlet of Lake Tahoe is a surprise to many, and to one standing on the bridge watching the flow of water through the Von Schmidt dam the volume is very insignificant as compared to what might be expected from such a large area of water.

In front of part of the town the bluff overhangs the water some little distance. On the under side hundreds of swallows have built their nests, and reared their young, undisturbed, year after year. They come in early Spring and depart in August, and so tame are they that their habits are readily observed. They bathe regularly, weather permitting, and their mode of taking a bath is very amusing. But one of the greatest attractions of the vicinity, and the least known, is the peculiar bottom of the lake, extending along the shore about two miles, and until lost to sight in deep water. At sometime in the dim past a series of lava flows have occurred with a general direction towards the center of the lake. During a calm morning and in a small boat slowly drifting, these several different flows are plainly visible, and where one overlaps another deep precipices occur with immense caverns at their base. At times the bed of the lake is like a floor and quite near the surface and then without a premonitory sign it drops down so suddenly that one forgets the buoyancy of the water, and thrills with a momentary fear of falling over the edge and down where there seems nothing but darkness. The crests and faces of these submarine cliffs are worked into all manner of curious shapes and forms, bearing a striking resemblance of a coral formation, and at times are so weird in appearance as to cause a feeling of uncanniness.

Fine grounds are found either way along the shore from Tahoe City and if the trout are biting at all one may feel sure of having his patience rewarded by a good string of fish. Captain Toddman's hatchery is well worth a visit and there the young trout may be seen in all stages of growth from the freshly received spawn to the young fish old enough to hunt his own living.

COUNTY EXHIBITS.

REMARKS AND CONDITIONS.

Nominations to stakes must be made to the Secretary on or before the first day of August, 1887. Entries for the purses must be made for Monday's races on the Saturday preceding; for Wednesday's races, on Monday, and for Friday's races, on Wednesday, at the regular time for closing entries as designated by the rules. Those who have nominated in stakes must name to the Secretary in writing which they will start the day before the race, at 6 P. M. Horses entered in purses can only be drawn by consent of the Judges.

The rules of the Pacific Blood Horses Association will govern running races. All horses entered for State purses must be owned and kept in Nevada and California, east of the Sierra Nevada, for six months prior to day of race.

Entries to all trotting races will close September 1st, with the Secretary.

Five or more to enter and three or more to start in all races for purses.

National Trotting Association Rules to govern trotting races. Pacific Coast Blood Horses Association Rules to govern running races, except as above.

All trotting and pacing races are the best three in five, unless otherwise specified, five to enter and three to start. But the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than five to fill, or the withdrawal of a proportionate amount of the purse. Entrance fee, ten per cent, on purse, to accompany nomination.

National Trotting Association Rules to govern trotting, but the Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately, if necessary to finish any day's racing, or to trot a special race between heats. A horse making a walk-over shall be entitled only to the entrance money paid in. When less than the required number of starters appear they may contest for the entrance money, to be divided as follows: 60% to the first and 40% to the second.

In all races entries not declared out by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race shall be required to start.

Where there is more than one entry by one person or in one interest, the particular horse they are to start must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race. No added money paid for a walk over.

Racing colors to be named in entries. In trotting races drivers will be required to wear caps of distinct colors, which must be named in their entries.

Each day's races will commence promptly at one o'clock P. M.

All entries must be directly to C. H. Stoddard, Secretary of the Society.

EQUESTRIANISM.

Ladies' Grand Tournament for the most accomplished and graceful lady riders. Friday, Sept. 23, Wednesday, Sept. 28 and Friday, Sept. 30, at 10 o'clock A. M.

The Society offers four premiums, valued respectively at $100, $70, $40 and $20. The lady who is adjudged first shall have her choice of all premiums offered. The second lady shall have second choice, and so on.

All ladies must ride with saddles.

It is expected that other special premiums will be added to this list by private contribution. No one but ladies of the highest respectability will be allowed to compete for prizes.

Ladies wishing to compete for prizes will please send name to Secretary, endorsed by two members of the Society.

INDIAN PONY RACES.

On Thursday, Sept. 22d, Monday, Sept. 26th and Thursday, Sept. 29th the novelty of an Indian pony race will be provided, and the amusing sight of twenty or thirty noble red men of the forest, mounted on the wildest and most unmanageable cayuses imaginable, galloping around the track at break-neck speed, will, as they say at the circus, be alone worth the price of admission.

CLYDESDALE MEDALS.

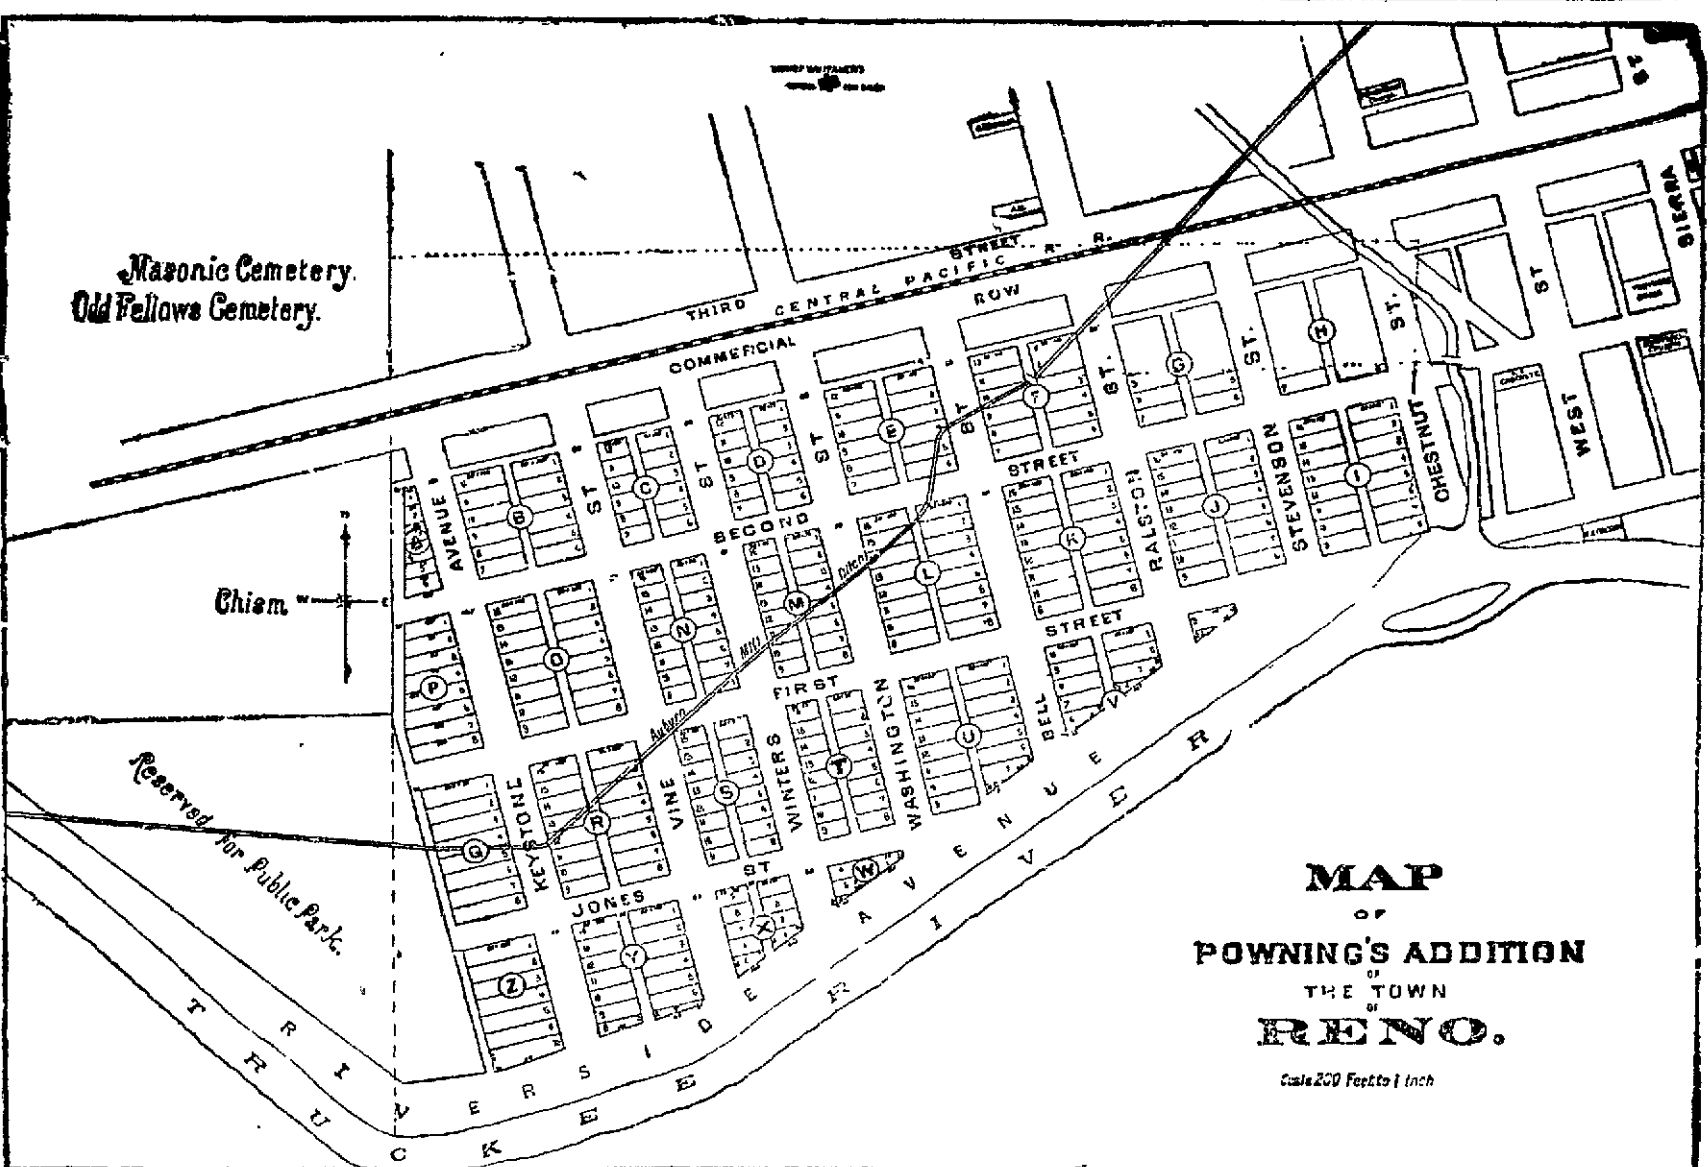

The American Clydesdale Association will give a valuable medal, of suitable design, for the best recorded Clydesdale stallion, and a similar medal for the best recorded Clydesdale mare bred in Nevada, and exhibited at the State Fair of 1887.

BALLOON ASCENSIONS.

Arrangements have been made for a series of balloon ascensions during the Fair, alike novel and exciting. Ascensions will be made daily from the race-track.

BICYCLE RACES.

Two or three bicycle races will take place between the fastest wheelmen in the State, and ten contestants are counted upon.

250 Beautiful Lots For Sale!

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT AND A HOME.

THE MOST LOVELY PORTION OF RENO.

Facing the Truckee—The Aristocratic Riverside Avenue Driveway—Splendid Sewerage—Healthy Location and Safe From Fire.

The proprietor is now ready to receive proposals for lots in Powning's Addition. The map gives a good idea of the Tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia Street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town this Addition faces the beautiful Truckee River and Riverside Avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone Avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is it is more safe from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 50x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

PARKER'S MAP OF NEVADA.PARKER'S NEW MAP OF NEVADA.

THIS NEW AND BEAUTIFUL

MAP OF THE STATE,

Has Just Been Published, and is Now Ready for Sale.

It has been completed with great care in order to be strictly correct, and furnishes a vast fund of valuable information regarding the topography of the State. There never has been a Map of the State prepared heretofore worthy of the name, and it is intended to fill a long-felt want on the part of citizens. It has been lithographed at large expense by the famous publishing house of Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago, and does great credit to their well-known skill in the art. The Map is drawn on a scale of 12 miles to the inch, and shows all surveyed Townships up to date of issue, also all Mountain Ranges, Valleys, Rivers, Creeks, Brooks, Streams and Lakes; it also shows the correct position of all Indian and Military Reservations, and all Cities, Towns and Settlements; also all Railroads and the principal Wagon Roads. The County Boundaries are also depicted with absolute correctness, which is something that no other Map has even approximated to.

The Map is printed on the best of paper, and mounted with stick, top and bottom, with tape on edges and varnished; it is also printed on thin, strong paper, which folds up in stout covers for pocket form. The Counties are printed with different colors, making it altogether an ornament to any school house, office, saloon or private room, as well as valuable for instruction and reference.

The Map has been compiled by John W. Parker, the Chief Draughtsman of the United States Surveyor-General's Office at Reno, who holds the copyright, and is the condensation of all information on file in that office, as well as the celebrated War Department Maps prepared by Lieutenant Wheeler; he has also had at his command other recent and reliable data on which to rely, and the Map is issued to the public in the firm belief that it is in every way authentic.

The Price of the Map is $5.00,

And copies will be sent to any address, postpaid, upon receipt of the money. Parties ordering will be careful to state which style is desired—mounted or pocket form.

John W. Parker,
Reno, Nevada.
